Did you get caught in the rain with your sprinklers running?

There are a variety of great solutions to keep sprinkler water from running down the drain, costing you money in the process. The range of solutions starts with simple sprinkler shut-off devices and goes all the way to more sophisticated ET timers that monitor weather conditions and make your sprinkler system respond accordingly. Other devices respond to different moisture conditions in your yard and turn on water only where it's needed. And there are often rebates for consumers who install these devices which makes them even more cost effective.
